RESOURCES for SURVIVORS of Crime and Abuse

The Problem

American Indians and Alaska Natives (AI/AN) have the highest crime victimization rates in the nation but often have difficulty connecting with the services that exist to help them recover from crime and abuse.

The Response

The Office for Victims of Crime of the U.S. Department of Justice has funded the National Center for Victims of Crime, National Congress of American Indians, and Tribal Law and Policy Institute to create a web-based resource mapping tool that:

- Provides a listing of all services available for AI/AN survivors of crime and abuse
- Helps identify gaps in services so those can be addressed

The Tribal Resource Tool provides information on victim services via its searchable database – all you have to do is visit the website. If you provide services to help AI/AN recover from crime and abuse, then apply to have your resources listed on the Tribal Resource Tool today.

TribalResourceTool.org

The tool includes services for:

- All ages of AI/AN survivors and victims
- All forms of victimization
- All locations (on or off reservations, in areas that are remote, rural, urban, or suburban)
- All needs of victims, including justice, safety, healing, and support

Help us continue to engage others in this important project.
Please share this information widely! Our current focuses are:

- AI/AN victim service providers
- Coalitions
- Tribal leadership
- Non-tribal specific service providers
- National hotlines
- Governmental agencies
